

Privacy and Cookies Policy ('Policy')

This Policy sets out how Benmore (also referred to as 'we', 'our', 'us' throughout this page) uses personal information collected from this 'Website'.

Personal Information we collect

We do not currently collect any personally identifiable information directly from this Website.

Cookies and Tracking Technologies

When you visit this Website, a session cookie(s), which is a small file(s), is placed on your computer/device. Session cookies allow the Website to function correctly for you during your visit. These cookies do not give us any personally identifiable information about you.

We use Google Analytics which places several cookies on your computer/device. We primarily use these analytics to help us gauge how many visitors visit this Website and to understand which pages are most or least popular so that we can make informed decisions about how to improve our content. These cookies do not give us any personally identifiable information about you.

If you access any page on this Website which displays Google Maps, third-party cookies will be added to your computer/device. We have no control over these cookies, which are added by Google. We believe these cookies will help you to utilise the zooming/moving functions of the interactive map(s) and may also provide Google with information about the number of users of the map(s) and the way they interact with the map(s). These cookies do not give us any personally identifiable information about you.

You can choose to accept or reject cookies by altering your web browser settings. If you reject cookies, it may prevent you from accessing or using some or all of this Website.
